CHOOSING A CAREER:
Select Your Life's Work Carefully

By JEAN E. FRANCIS
Director of Guidance, Lower Merion High School

Each year more than two million youths of various ages and varied education become available for employment. Studies show that chance circumstances more often than carefully selected choices determine the careers entered upon by this group. Very frequently the reason given for their choice of an occupation is, "My Dad did it." Or, "I've always wanted to do it."

Because the school is responsible for the great majority of youth in the community during the period when they are in need of vocational guidance, it becomes the major responsibility of the school to aid these young people in their choice of a career. Today, the school is using many instruments and many agencies to help in its program of disseminating vocational information.

Pupils are given an opportunity to study the rewards, conditions, and requirements in the major groups of occupations. Career Conferences bring men and women outstanding in their fields to hold discussions with those persons who are interested in learning about particular occupations. In this way, pupils get direct information from persons who really know the advantages and disadvantages of the job.

Actual experience in careers is now being offered many pupils. Cooperative courses where the pupil works part-time in stores or offices give an opportunity to try out certain careers. The technical courses afford chance to be trained in definite skills.

Students should have an opportunity to re-examine their occupational choices in light of their interests, their abilities and the employment trend of the present time. Too many aspire for professions requiring training beyond their financial means or their mental achievement. It would be well to foster a movement in which every job, however menial, were raised to an honorable status. Social and economic waste results when workers are unsatisfied with their occupation because they fail to find satisfaction and security.

The school attempts to provide opportunities whereby its pupils may take an inventory of their abilities and interests, may learn about jobs from workers actually engaged in these jobs, and may obtain literature to read in a great variety of occupations. However, this job cannot be done if the school is unaided. It must seek and obtain the cooperation of many social agencies. Thus, the problem of helping our youth to choose a career becomes a community enterprise in which the school assumes leadership.

Seven League Women to Attend International Trade Conferences

Seven members of the Lower Merion Township League of Women Voters will represent the league at two area conferences on international trade to be held this month, one in Washington, D. C., the other in New York City.

The Washington conference will be held next Wednesday and Thursday, and will be attended by Mrs. Robert P. Wetherald, of Narberth, newly elected president of the Pennsylvania League and former vice-president of the local group; Mrs. Thomas L. Kane, of Merion, president of the Lower Merion League; Mrs. F. N. Lloyd, of Wynnewood, public relations chairman of the local league, and Mrs. H. J. Kallenthaler, Jr., of Wynnewood.

Board members who have already signed up to attend a similar conference in New York City on October 27 and 28 include Mrs. William Mulford, of Ardmore, new treasurer; Mrs. Enoch J. Derham, of Bryn Mawr, new head of the economic welfare department, and Mrs. Horace M. Weil, of Merion, new chairman of the international relations department.

Mrs. Kane announced this week that the two conferences are the first in a series of nine to be held in strategic centers of the United States. "At these meetings," she said, "we expect to review facts about international trade and to get a fresh perspective on the place of the United States in the trade of the world."

"The last convention of the League voted to work for the elimination of trade barriers as one way in which machinery for world peace might be strengthened," she said. "Specifically, we want to see the establishment of an International Trade Organization within which trade problems may be worked out satisfactorily. At the conferences we will discuss ways by which we may determine what foreign trade means to the community."

Mrs. Kane said various phases of the subject which would be discussed at the conference would include the position of the United States in foreign trade, trade in the emergency post-war period, reciprocal trade agreements, and the kind of machinery which might be established throughout the United Nations to insure a stable international economy.

The Main Line Housewife Reads Her Community Newspaper

It's the event of the week when her community newspaper arrives, because the community paper keeps her posted on the events of the week. The comings and goings of neighbors and friends, the news of the churches and schools, the activities of civic groups and local government units.

Dad and the Children Read It Too

Truth is that every member of the family finds news of interest in the community paper. It helps them have a better understanding of the community and it makes the community a better place to live.

Advertisers Are Friends

Local families have high regard for the advertisers in the community paper. They regard them as friends—study their ads—prefer to buy advertised goods and services.

These Four Papers Have No "Waste Circulation"

These four community newspapers provide unique flexibility in reaching Main Line families. The merchant who wishes to reach a single community only, may do so—without paying for "waste circulation." Yet the merchant or service wishing to reach the entire Main Line and Haverford Township gets unexampled coverage at one low cost.

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars

By GEORGE LILLEY

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Biggest scramble among radio sponsors for a star since last Fall's Bing Crosby melee has ended. Effective Oct. 2, Al Jolson is the new weekly host of the NBC Thursday night "Music Hall."

Incidentally, the old Crosby stamping ground, Everywhere last season Jolson appeared on the radio, the Hooperatings rose. He added listeners by the millions to the very top unscheduled programs (including Crosby, CBS Radio Theater). Sixty-one-year-old Jolson, who never took a singing lesson, gets in excess of $5000 weekly for his new job. Pianist-wit Oscar Levant also has been signed for the show. As usual, the "Hall" will contain top name guests.

SIX-MONTH TRIAL
 Despite critics, daytime radio serials probably have a closer and stronger appeal to American housewives than any form of programming. That makes interesting an experiment being carried on by CBS' philanthropic daytimer, "The Guiding Light." For six months the show, starring Betty Lou Gerson, will sponsor a contest, "Knit for Jolly Children." Listeners will be asked to knit Betty Lou Gerson garments to be attended knitting forwarded with the cooperation of the Red Cross and other social groups to destitute children. There will, of course, be prizes. It is the first lengthy appeal of the type made by a daytime serial. If results are to be had, radio insiders feel this will bring them in.

*In cooperation with a magazine, "Smart Knitting."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Younger boys program will open Saturday morning at the Main Line YMCA. A full day's program of activities will be offered every Saturday beginning with registration, gymnasium class assembly with movies and other special events and club sessions in the morning. The boys will bring their lunch. In the afternoon various groups will meet with the day closing with games in the gym at four P. M.

The program is under the direction of James C. Hengst, boys' work secretary, assisted by Norman Goerlich and John B. Covington. This is open to boys from nine to 13 years of age. Many of the boys who were registered for the Main Line YMCA special summer program will be among the participants coming from the various Main Line communities—Ardmore, Bryn Mawr, Wynnewood, Narberth, Bala-Cynwyd, Merion and Rosemont.

Eleanor Blake, secretary of the Young Adult Forum and member of the Chorus, both young adult activities at the Main Line YMCA will be this branch's delegates at a State Adult Conference at Byndenwood, adult camp of the Reading YMCA, near Wernersville, on October 4 and 5. D. James Lee Ellenwood, New York State Secretary, former Navy Chaplain, well known as a brilliant speaker and author of many books, will be the speaker on Saturday morning.

Emory M. Nelson, former general secretary of Chester YMCA and former member of the State staffs of Kentucky and Pennsylvania, now a member of the National Council staff, will speak on Sunday. Mr. Nelson is a very popular speaker on this area particularly as speaker and forum leader with young people on the problems of courtship and marriage.

"Kid Rides Again," movie starring Buster Crabbe, will be presented on Friday evening in the social hall of the Main Line YMCA by the Hawks Hi-Y Club.

Henry George School of Social Science opened its fall course on Fundamental Economics at the Main Line YMCA on Monday evening. This course is given without cost to any one interested.

Miss Eleanor Blake is the newly appointed leader of the Bobby Sox Girls' Club and met with the group for the first time last Thursday evening. Plans for the present membership campaign and for events in the near future were made.

The Main Line YMCA Chorus held its first rehearsal of the fall on Tuesday evening, with William Z. Shetter, director, in charge. Plans are under way for a full season of appearance.

Teachers of Lower Merion High School have resumed their evening of bowling at the Main Line YMCA on Thursdays.

Old Autos to Vie At Horse Show

The automobile and the horse will be teamed in a special feature at the Montgomery County Horse Show and Country Fair which starts this Saturday at Devon.

The Antique Automobile Club of America will participate in an antique auto derby, starting at 11 A. M. from midtown Philadelphia and ending at the Devon Horse Show grounds. Special trophies have been donated by the horse show committee for the event.

Each auto, from Model T to Stutz Bearcat, will be allotted a definite time in which to reach Devon. The car reaching there the nearest to this allotted time, which will be known only to the judges and official timers, will be the winner.

Prizes will be given to the car arriving closest to the allotted time; to the best looking car; the oldest car, and the best in each class.

Part-line service works just fine When neighbors learn to share the line.

On party-line telephones, courtesy pays dividends! Be brief... Space calls... Hang up gently... Take the lead in good party-line manners. It will mean better service for all.

WAYNE TOSSERS UPSET DREXEL HILL FOR FIRST M. L. TITLE SINCE 1922

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

The kids from Wayne came through for Mickey Gavin. Rated as the underdog against a veteran Drexel Hill nine, Wayne depended on fine pitching on Saturday and timely hitting on Sunday to defeat the Hillers, three games to one, and thus annex the 1947 Main Line League baseball championship.

It was the first Main Line title for Wayne since 1922. Harry Desert, voted the most improved player in the league and far the outstanding pitcher of the series, snapped the playoff deadlock on Saturday by limiting the hard-hitting Drexel Hill club to four hits to gain a 4-0 win.

Desert walked three batters while walking three. The winner's first run came in the third inning when Desert singled, went to second on a sacrifice by Vince DiMaggistris and scored on a long double into right field by George Brown.

Wayne added three more in the ninth on singles by Joe Minalek and Desert, Selby's boot of DiMaggistris' fly ball and another two-baser by Brown.

Desert grew stronger as the game progressed. The lean right-hander retired the last seven men to face him and fanned the side in both the first and ninth innings. Gene Conway was the victim of Desert's masterpiece. He allowed 10 hits.

The clincher, a 9-5 victory for Wayne on Sunday, was a departure from the pattern of close ball games followed during the first three contests. Drexel Hill jumped on unsuspecting Johnny Byrne for a run in the first inning when it combined errors by Ray Edelman and Norm Swigler with a hit by Larry Algeldinger to tally a run.

Wayne scored two runs in its half of the first frame to take a lead it never relinquished. Vince DiMaggistris opened with a resounding triple into center field, the ball went over the fence, but bounced back into the playing field—and scored a moment later on a fielder's choice as catcher Jack Duffy committed the first of four Hiller errors.

For Drexel Hill, the defeat marked the second time in two years that it had been defeated in the championship series. Last year, Joe Irvin's team dropped the title to Narberth, four games to three.

Highlights of the Series

Best pitched game—Harry Desert's four-hit, 4-0 shutout for Wayne in the third game.

Best fielding play—Larry Algeldinger's stop of Ray Edelman's drive in the second game.

Longest hits—Harry Yarrow's double for Wayne in the second game, Norm Selby's home run for Drexel Hill in the fourth game, last Yarrow's triple, also in the fourth game.

Most courageous pitching—Touched for three straight hits and raced with the tying and leading runs in the sixth and seventh innings of the seventh game.

Oddest play—The incident of the mysterious "extra base ball" in the eighth inning of the first game. The riot that followed was one of the wildest in recent playoff games.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD

He's heavier, wiser and a mite older than when he packed up and left his Manoa home last year, but Roy Allen apparently hasn't lost any of his pitching talent.

Roy, a solid six-footer who weighs 175, bats and throws right-handed. He boasted one of the best pitching records ever compiled at Haverford High, where he graduated in June, 1946. Topping off a splendid mound record was a one-hitter against Upper Darby.

Joining Ft. Lauderdale, of the Florida International League, last April, Roy registered 12 victories for a last-place club. In all, he pitched in 30 games, losing 14 and winning two by shutouts. In addition, he had two four-hit games and posted one three-hit triumph.

Roy, a baseball-wise 18 years old, is owned by the Boston Braves. He's scheduled to step out of Class C ranks next season, may join either Evansville, Nashville or Three-Eye League, or Hartford, Conn., of the Eastern League.

Evansville is in Class B competition; Hartford is Class A.

During the winter months, Roy plans to help his father, Walter, who operates an automobile repair business at 200 Washington Ave. in Manoa. Fearful of shedding some of his hard-earned 175 pounds, he won't engage in basketball or any other strenuous activity until he heads for spring training camp.

Another Haverford High product Harry Whitney did tolerably well with the Class D Bluefield, W. Va., club this year after joining it in mid-July. Whitney was a high school teammate of Allen in 1946 and it was with the same team that Roy later made his professional debut that year.

Both boys appear on their way up if the grades are good. They'll be the most recent, but certainly not the first from Haverford to play in the majors. Preceding them were Jimmy Dykes, ex-Athletics' infielder and Chicago White Sox manager, and Johnny Stevens, Sox batting practice pitcher and former Nunan-Slovak American Legion strikeout artist.

Clair Hape, former Philadelphia Record sports writer, and Dick Fishel, of that late-lamented newspaper's advertising department, have collaborated on a youngsters' "how to play" baseball book, designed for those from six to 10, and titled "Terry and Bunky Play Baseball." Illustrations are by Len Warren, ex-Record artist. The book, recommended reading for young boys, is published by G. P. Putnam's Sons, $1.50.

1948 Ice Capades To Open Oct. 13

There will be hisses for the villain, cheers for the heroine and laughs for Eric Waite when Ice Capades of 1948 comes to town, bringing its own "stock company" to present, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The eighth edition, which has 22 new numbers, more than 10,000 new costumes and new sets, new music and new skating routines, opens a two weeks' engagement at the Arena, 45th and Market Sts., on Monday night, October 13.

L. Merion Vets And Warriors In Court Opener

The Lower Merion Veterans, Main Line League basketball champions, will encounter the Philadelphia Warriors, who won the Basketball Association of America professional crown last year, in an exhibition game at Lower Merion High gymnasium on Wednesday, Oct. 22.

It will be the Warriors' first appearance in this district. Following the Oct. 22 inaugural, the Vets plan to bring the Sphas or some other top team to the Lower Merion court on Oct. 29 for their final tuneup prior to the Nov. 5 league opener.

Among the Lower Merion returnees will be three ex-Penn stars, Larry Davis and Chuck Viguers—both of whom served as Red and Blue court captain—and Bill Koehler. The team will be making its debut under the management of Bob Hackler, who coached the Duke University athlete, who replaced Stan Thomas when the latter retired.

Other Vets' holdovers are George Paine, former vet of the University of North Carolina; Don Evans, of Narberth, and Bink Manning, hero of last year's title playoff with Brookline.

Lower Merion held its initial practice session this week with 30 candidates turning out. Since the majority played during the summer season in the outdoor Narberth Playground League, the squad is in good physical condition. The Warriors will hold their first drills next Tuesday.

Villanova Set For Miami In Shibe Park Tilt

Villanova College footballers will attempt to regain the win path and at the same time gain vengeance on the University of Miami for last year's setback this Friday night at Shibe Park.

More than 25,000 fans are expected to watch this renewal of the Villanova-Miami series. Those attending last year's game still thrill to the 100-yard touchdown run made by fleet Bob Polidor. Villanova back, with a Miami kickoff, Villanova came through last Saturday's 13-0 defeat t Army physically undamaged. Polidor, who had been badly shaken up, recovered in recent workouts and is expected to see action Friday.

Coach Jordan Oliver directed his players through a two-hour workout, Wednesday and the spirit displayed was very encouraging. Oliver regarded it as one of the most beneficial drills in several weeks.

Miami dropped its opener to Baylor University. The loss stunned Coach Jack Harding, his players and Miami followers. The feeling in the Miami area was that the Texans would put the Hurricanes in top trim for the Villanova game. Jerry Ney, Villanova assistant coach, who scouted the Miami game, advised the Main Liners to be prepared for a rebounding team. Coach Harding said Miami overlooked Baylor while preparing for Villanova, but said he felt his charges would be ready for the Wildcats.

Ney was impressed with the kicking of Miami's Harry Gault. The Burlington (N. J.) fullback, rated as one of the country's best punters, stood out in defeat. He is in much better shape than last season and Villanova will do its best to stop him.

KNOW YOUR STATE Pennsylvania Leads in Highway Improvement

The State of Pennsylvania, with a total of 787 contracts awarded for highway projects by its State and local governments during the first five months of this year, leads the Nation in post-war activity for modernization of her public thoroughfares. The value of the contracts awarded amounts to $38,400,000—$4,000,000 more than is being expended by Texas, the State second to Pennsylvania, and $13,000,000 more than the contracts awarded by California. Of this total $24,126,000 is due to State contracts and $4,274,000 to those awarded by counties, cities or other local agencies, according to a report issued by the Federal Works Agency in July, 1947.

The expansion and improvement of our highway system in this post-war period is one phase of the extensive program of public improvement now being undertaken by the State government. Pennsylvania is moving into the years directly ahead with a determination to maintain its present high level of industrial and agricultural activities, and to improve its physical plant. The State conservation program is aimed to insure better water, more productive soil and more extensive forest resources than are now available. The improvements and repairs being undertaken on the highways will result in the development of a transportation system which will aid more industries in the speedy marketing of their goods and expedite the movement of raw materials to our factories.

It is generally recognized that the Pennsylvania State highway system is now the most modern and extensive in the United States. These improvements, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out, will insure that the Commonwealth maintains its leadership. Every possible facility is being extended to our business and industry, and every convenience provided to our citizens and to visitors from other States to become acquainted with the beauties of our scenery, with the prosperity of our rural life and the vitality, and to improve its physical plant.

CARE Letters Stresses Christmas Needs, Special Gift Packages

The following letter went out this week from the Main Line branch of CARE:

"Christmas is coming and the average European is still existing on a disease-inducing diet of only 1500 calories a day.

CARE has today two main objectives:

First, we must see to it that as many CARE packages as possible reach the destitute people of Europe in time for Christmas. Orders received by CARE, 50 Broad St., New York, by November 1 have a good chance of delivery by Christmas.

Second, we are joining the campaign to send, as a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth, food packages to British families who face acute shortages. Orders for the special wedding gift packages may be designated for individuals or groups as usual, or marked 'for needy families' to be distributed at the discretion of the Princess, who has thankfully accepted the responsibility for their distribution where most needed. Such orders should be in the New York office, if possible, by November 15. Mailing address for this drive is 'Share Through CARE Committee, 50 Broad St., New York 4, N. Y.' Names of all donors or organizations contributing to this drive will be inscribed in a book to be prepared by CARE and presented to Princess Elizabeth.

"For further information communicate with Elizabeth Towle, Old Buck Inn, Haverford, Pa.

"Let's all pull together to help reduce Europe's distress and make this a happier Christmas for millions of her people."

Included in the list of CARE packages, is a standard food package, a baby food package, a Kosher food package, n infant food package, a layette, a wool suiting package, a knitting wool package, a

READING GOLF OPENS
Reading, Pa., Oct. 1—Many of the nation's top golfers are in Reading this week for the $10,000 Open golf tournament at the Berkshire Country Club. The 72-hole medal play opened Thursday and concludes Sunday. Tournament practice rounds and a golf clinic were held today.

During his absence from the football field, Ray Mentzer has been handling the "Pards" reserve football team, ordinarily coached by Cornog. The Haverford second-stringers upset Chester in their opener, but bowed to Abington on Monday.

Lower Merion's soccer team scored its second victory of the season by beating Central High, 4-0, in an inter-league game at Ardmore on Friday.

Leading L. M. to victory was Fred Schmitt, who scored two goals. Bob Walters and Bob Blaney accounted for the remaining markers.

Cornog Recovers From Infection

Allie Cornog, Haverford High's popular athletic director, is recovering from a serious foot infection which hospitalized him through the greater part of the summer.

Allie, while engaged in a mosquito-extermination project, stepped on a broken bottle and soon suffered the infection. He was treated in Bryn Mawr Hospital for several weeks before the foot responded to treatment.
